

Adobe Acrobat™ PDFWriter™

Read Me Notes for Windows95 installation.

Purpose: The PDFWRITR.INF file allows you to install the PDFWriter driver into Windows95 following a failed attempt by Acrobat Exchange.

How to Use: An incomplete installation of the PDFWriter into Windows95 will have successfully decompressed the needed PDFWriter files onto your hard drive. Follow the steps below to complete the PDF registration.

- 1) Restart your Windows95 session and make sure no applications are running.
- 2) Verify you have the following three files in the WINDOWS\SYSTEM subdirectory. Note: your Windows directory may have a different name i.e. WIN95 or WIN:
  - PDFWritr.drv
  - PDFWlib.dll
  - PDFhlp.hlpIf you have all three of the above files copy the PDFWRITR.INF on this disk into the your WINDOWS\SYSTEM directory.
- 3) From the Start menu go to Settings\Printers and double click the “Add Printer” icon.
- 4) From the Add Printer Wizard, click “Next.”
- 5) Then select “Local Printer” and click “Next.”
- 6) Choose “Have Disk.” On the next screen click “Browse” and target your system subdirectory in the Windows95 directory. Type PDFWRITR.INF in the file name box and click “OK.”
- 7) An “Install from disk” dialog will come up. Click “OK”
- 8) The “Acrobat PDFWriter” will appear as the selected printer. Click “Next.”
Note: Ignore the have disk button
- 9) Choose “LPT1: Printer Port.” Click “Next.”
- 10) Choose if you want the PDFWriter as your default printer and what name you would like to designate for it. The default name is “Acrobat PDFWriter.” Click “Next.”
- 11) When the Printer Wizard prompts you to print a test page (the default), Click no. The PDFWriter will appear as a printer in you printer list.
